

Ty Herndon - What Mattered Most

Tom: C
 Intro: C C F C
 I thought I knew, the girl so well if she was sad, I couldn't tell I missed the point, I missed the sings so if she's gone, the fault is mine I know, I know, a whole lot of little things and even though, I could face them one by one she would still be gone

Chorus
 Her eyes are blue her hair is long sixty four she was born in Batton rouge
 the very song is in my life

 I meorized her ev'ry move I knew her books, her car, her clothes but I paid, no attention to what mattered most

Verse 2
 I never asked, she never said
 And when she cried I turned my head
 She dreamed her dreams behind closed doors
 That made them easy to ignore
 And I know, I know, I missed the forest for the trees
 Now all I have to show
 Or would she walk out the door?
 The cold facts and nothin' more

Chorus

Chorus 2
 Her eyes are blue, her hair is long, sixty four she was born, in Batton Rouge, Her father's tall, her mother's gone,
 She moved out when she was two,
 The way she laughed, the way she loved,
 Oh my God what did I do?
