                                                                Your eyes make a circle

                                                                 Your eyes, your eyes...

                                                                Refrão 2x:
A boy tries hard to be a man
                                                                Walk away, walk away
His mother takes him by his hand
                                                                Walk away, walk away
If he stops to think he starts to cry
                                                                I will follow
                                                                   I will follow
Refrão 2x:
Walk away, walk away
                                                                   I will follow
Walk away, walk away
                                                                   I will follow
I will follow
