

Within Temptation - Ice Queen

```
Whenever she is raging
               tom:
               B
                                                             Dbm
Intro: Dbm A Dbm Gbm
                                                            She takes all life away
 Dbm A E Eb
                                                            Haven't you seen?
     Α
When leaves have fallen
                                                            Haven't you seen?
                                                                    Dbm
And skies turned to grey
                                                            The ruins of our world
 A E
                                                            Dbm A E
The night keeps on closing in on the day

A E B Dbm

A nightingale sings her song of farewell

A E B Gbm
                                                            She covers the earth with a breathtaking cloak
                                                             A E B Dbm
                                                            The sun awakes and melts it away
A E B Dbm
You better hide from her freezing hell
                                                            The world now opens its eyes and sees
Gbm Dbm
                                                            The dawning of a new day
On cold wings she's coming
Gbm Dbm
You better keep moving
Gbm Dbm E B Gbm
For warmth, you'll be longing
                                                            On cold wings she's coming
                                                            Gbm Dbm
                                                            Gbm
You better keep moving
E B Gbm
Gbm Dbm
Come on just feel it
                                                            For warmth, you'll be longing Gbm Dbm
Gbm Dbm E
Don't you see it?
                                                            Come on just feel it
You better believe
                                                            Gbm Dbm E
                                                            Don't you see it?
                                                             В
When she embraces
                                                            You better believe
 В
Your heart turns to stone
 A E
                                                            Whenever she is raging
She comes at night when you're all alone
                                                             Dbm B
                                                            She takes all life away
 A E
And when she whispers
                                                            Haven't you seen?
 B Dbm
Your blood shall run cold
                                                            Haven't you seen?
 A E
You better hide before she finds you
                                                            The ruins of our world
                                                            A Gbm
Whenever she is raging
Dbm B
                                                            Whenever she is raging
Dbm B
She takes all life away
                                                            She takes all life away
Haven't you seen?
                                                            Haven't you seen?
  В
Haven't you seen?
                                                            Haven't you seen?
The ruins of our world
                                                                     Dbm
                                                            The ruins of our world
```

Acordes

