

Zayn Malik - Alienated

tom:
 No two people are the same
 Stand beside you, but just far enough away
 Last night we were drinking
 Tried to think away the pain
 Made that age-old mistake
 Tried to disconnect my body
 From my soul, from my soul
 See, I feel alright already on my own
 Can you let me be intoxicated on my own?
 Do I need to answer or right my wrongs?
 Am I home if I don't know this place?
 And I've been feeling alienated, on my spaceship alone
 Say goodbye to the past, leave it all with a laugh
 'Cause you always was right all along
 Know my reasons for the pain
 But if you brought it in front of me
 I know I'd do it all again
 Call them beer can gains

I know from all the years
 That my feelings n?ver change
 Can you let me be intoxicated on my own?
 Do I need to answer or right my wrongs?
 Am I home if I don't know this place?
 And I've been feeling alienated, on my spaceship alone
 Say goodbye to the past, leave it all with a laugh
 'Cause you always was right all along
 Did the winds make the noise of change?
 Can the wings on your skin help you fly away?
 'Cause it's always raining
 And the clouds are always grey when you're away
 Yeah, I've been feeling alienated, on my spaceship alone
 Say goodbye to the past (ayy, ayy), leave it all with a laugh
 'Cause you always was right all along
 All along
 Say goodbye to the past
 Say goodbye
 Ooh, ooh, ooh
 Ah, ah-ah
